Congratulations. It is an honor and a privilege to inform you that Gerald D. Cohen, President and CEO of Information Builders, has nominated Diputación Provincial de Badajoz "OAR"'s Electronic Service and inter-administrative cooperation project for inclusion in "A Search for New Heroes," the On-Line Archive of the Computerworld Honors Foundation, and in the permanent research collections of its affiliated Academic Council. When you submit a case study to the Foundation, your organization will become a Computerworld Honors Laureate and be considered for the Foundation's 21st-Century Achievement Award in the Government & Non-Profit Organizations category.

Each year, The Computerworld Honors Foundation identifies and honors men and women from around the world whose visionary use of information technology produces and promotes positive social change. These innovators, true revolutionaries in their respective fields, are nominated by Chairmen and CEOs of the world's leading information-technology companies. Upon successful completion of their case studies, the work of these visionaries is accorded a permanent place in global history at the more than 120 libraries, museums, and universities worldwide that compose the Academic Council. Additionally, these case studies become a part of the Computerworld Honors Archives On Line, able to be viewed and studied around the world for generations to come.

You may submit your case study online at www.cwheroes.org and the following password You will need your unique serial number to access and begin work on your case study. The deadline for submission of case studies for this year's Collection is December 30, 2004. The Archival Materials and Faces of Innovation portions are due by December 30, 2004, as well. We invite you to browse some of the Case Studies archived in past years, so you may get a feel for length and content of previous submissions. These can be accessed on the Internet at the Foundation's official site, www.cwheroes.org.

Once again, congratulations. We shall be in touch shortly to go over the process in greater detail, as well as to answer any questions you may have.

Sincerely,

Daniel Morrow
